

Spencer Meagher Watercolor Workshop

presented by Gateway East Artists Guild

Deep within Spencer Meagher's spirit lies a need to express himself that can only be realized through art. His paintings are a realistic glimpse into how he views the world around him. He avoids the details and lets the color and value tell the story. He has won numerous awards, and given many presentations and workshops. Lots of demos take each student step-by-step through the process of developing a finished painting. Anticipate completing three 11x15" watercolors per day over the course of the workshop. Students will experience multiple exercises designed to improve their understanding of color and value. For all levels of painters.
